

How Is My Tuition Dollar Applied?

Saturday, 29 September 2007

CEO SPACE retains approximately $300.00 of your tuition fee. Tuition fees are designed to off-load hard cost to produce each week long training program, and to sustain City Club on-going support for CEO SPACE membership worldwide. Tuition fees are applied to lesson plans, audio and visual tapes you receive before, during, and after each class program; website resources including grad only web networking sites that continue the trade show day to day after each event. Fees are applied to produce Super Teaching learning onsite and to off-load costs for hotel, faculty indirect expense costs, staff costs on site during the retreat week, group meals, hotel space cost, various other hotel and audio video costs and the cost to upgrade and produce development of fresh to market curriculum lesson plans at CEO level. CEO SPACE price plans are deeply discounted for families and groups attending together in order to keep costs low. CEO SPACE tuition plans are priced at two thirds less than leading university MBA refresher retreats for residency training programs of the same duration. CEO MBAs tell us that CEO SPACE provides many times the value of programs they paid much more to attend. Paul Hoyt's online video provides an example of an MBA from MIT University (one of many MBAs reports on this website) that confirm this and all CEO SPACE claims on this web due diligence site.
