

What Makes CEO SPACE's Free Enterprise Training different from a conventional workshop?

Saturday, 29 September 2007

CEO SPACE feels more like a trade show than a class or seminar. CEO SPACE employs a unique format and pacing not found in other programs. CEO SPACE curriculum is a significant MBA refresher program in one week's time. Educational offers of similar duration require investments of from $15,000 to $45,000 for a one time access. CEO SPACE provides on going support at a fraction of the price point.

Relationship building between CEOs including important alliance building is created during each week long CEO SPACE event, as another unique format departure. CEO SPACE is transactional, which fast paced CEO and management teams appreciate, workshops are slower paced by nature. Experts are on-site to help CEOs develop improved plans all on a one-on-one basis, including better teams as required and resources to execute. Progress accelerates due to the rich contact grid on site at any CEO SPACE event. CEOs and wealthy company merger acquisition minded executives find CEO SPACE a friendly comfortable environment. Investors like CEO SPACE because the environment works like "investor anonymous". Investors appreciate the diversification into significant hyper growth potentials made possible by on site due diligence direct with company management. Investor completions ranging from modest to very large complex programs have been reported (see online videos for details).

Collective coaching provides expert coaches who represent many CEO coaching hours with leading CEOs, some of whom lead the top 10,000 Fortune Global firms. Unlimited access to the on-site "Fortune level coaching" is provided on an individual basis at each CEO SPACE program. CEO SPACE's one-on-one coaching format works to help improve performance for the most sophisticated management teams. Private time with CEO SPACE coaches at the top is a value that helps any CEO at any stage of developing what comes next to perform faster. Professionals also appreciate the skills one on one time provided at CEO SPACE forum provides, benefiting their professional practices.

CEO SPACE's week long residency program represents a new very advanced Management and CEO level performance training. Many CEO's now make CEO Space their "reward" incentive plan for management and their families, using the "CORPORATE" Section of this web site to plan long term performance upgrades for their work place (See Jeff MaGee video on this web site). CEO's use CEO SPACE to improve systems as profits rise and system demands become ever more complex over time. CEO SPACE is a next generation ongoing trade show, think tank, performance training and culture upgrade for business planners. The on-going process helps members to remain active and beneficial to one another over time. The CEO SPACE Alumni association value is a very strong value proposition for membership.

We live in a new era of speed. CEO Space upgrades performance faster with more help along the way.
