

What If I Desire to Attend the CEO Space Training but I Lack LIQUIDITY FOR MEMBERSHIP?

Saturday, 29 September 2007

Once a new member has enrolled into the next CEO Space program, they may, without cost, participate in a Community Service program known as Fund Busting. A recent firm was doing millions of dollars of business, was making a profit, but was tied up in "cost of growth issues." Available credit was utilized in product plant and personnel ramp up cost. Liquidity was stretched due to hyper growth. The Fund Busting program, offered by CEO SPACE, provided almost instant liquidity options for the firm's management team.

Fund Busting is hosted by expert teams to support individuals who seek to develop the next financial resources to move their agendas forward. From 10% to 30% of an average CEO SPACE class use the fund busting free "pre class program" as one way to obtain desired liquidity in the near term. This free training has helped many a business owner to reach the next step. Simply make the decision to enroll in the next CEO SPACE program - and allow our professional City Manager in your area know that you wish to participate in the CEO SPACE fund buster education program. There is no cost of any kind. CEO SPACE suggests the Fund Buster go through the seven steps of the fund buster training, as if it were a board game that you were playing with your family. By playing the Fund Buster instruction like a board game you have more fun and the winners circle is always the liquidity result you were seeking at the start. Many business owners have inventory and credit issues and Fund Busting helps them learn about capital and resource options, options they would never have considered, before they attend an CEO SPACE retreat week, all without charge. Fund busting steps include on line audio home study, live tele training, volunteer coaches who have done it and now pay it forward to you, live training in your community, and follow up with other fund busters who have done it as well as click and play video training. The CEO SPACE seven step Fund Busting plan works like a board game and makes CEO SPACE benefits begin following your decision to join the membership. CEO SPACE becomes your "Country Club for the Wallet" from the date you enroll into the support system.

Local CEO SPACE Community Service Centers will explain how to enroll to become a member and how to sign up for the free fund busting training. Fund Busting training is a complete program of free educational classes, free on line and conference training at home learning and individual free coaching by volunteer experts. Call or email today for fund busting information on local level. If speed IS the need, CEO SPACE may be the solution you where seeking all along.