

Why Do Artists Attend CEO Space Classes?

Saturday, 29 September 2007

Artists face the same challenges as any business owner, as they move into the CEO position for the careers. Celebrity talent attend CEO SPACE programs, as do those just starting out. They must organized artistic careers as a business to be truly successful. Yet, like many others, they lack the business skills to achieve the success they desire. CEO Space offers special auditions [at its classes] with one of the premier, third party music talent development firms, 1002 Production Inc. of Nashville, Tennessee. Expert coaches seek to assist the musical artist to develop their career through distribution of their finished product in the market, as do coaches from publishing film fine art and other artistic expression. CEO SPACE has best selling author graduates, and success in every artistic area to report. Collective expert coaching helps the artist in business. Some projects, such as larger film projects like Elvis Presley's brother David Stanley, CEO of Impello Films, require very large resources and funding. CEO SPACE loves completing such missions in a way that is satisfactory to the professionals bringing us larger artistic projects.

CEO Space programs have helped artists get their paintings and sculptures in galleries, as well as writers to have their books published. CEO's attending always take special mentor positions, helping artists in a truly "safe" environment. Everyone of us win when we support the arts. Many investors attending allocate some of their support to artistic development. Presidents of Publishing firms attend and teach at CEO SPACE. Hollywood film producers attend and teach at CEO SPACE. Direct industry contacts help artists.

Celebrities endorse CEO SPACE. Sony/Warner Platinum Artist, Michael Peterson (from Here to Eternity) has gone on tour for CEO SPACE. Gary Malhkan developed his finest product packages from CEO SPACE and was awarded the performance spot to the 9/11 memorial live performance at the National Cathedral in Washington D.C in 2002. Gary's nationwide Graceful Passages is helping all of us to graduate from life with music and love. Testimonial films on this web site offer hours of artist speaking out about CEO SPACE as a safe place for serious artistic talent. From television programing to film release CEO SPACE helps the artist. CEOs of larger firms attend to reward employees as they apply collective coaching to master plan future undertakings. Chicken Soup Authors, Jack Canfield and Mark Hansen, best selling children's authors Dian Loomens, and Donna Baboe, best selling authors from health to Jill Lublin's (acknowledgement to CEO SPACE) Guerilla PR and best selling 2005 Networking Magic endorse CEO SPACE, Lisa Nichols of Chicken Soup for the African American Soul endorses CEO SPACE in her book, as does Harv Eckhardt, from leading authors to Emmy award winning Richard Crawford in films, to Producer Graham Ludlow all endorse CEO SPACE. From Don Kirchner's feature film, A MATTER OF TIME now in development to Joan Gustafson's of 3M wonderful works for women leadership and Sharon Kay's books of poetry all report on CEO SPACE support for their art. In fact they report they could not have completed with CEO SPACE help. There are too many to name over too many years as CEO SPACE support for the arts span the globe.

Artists tell artists, to run rather than walk to CEO SPACE.

Mark Hansen says ..CEO SPACE is "DEEEE PLACE" ~

CEO Space is consistently investing to improve its support of the artist's from all fields. CEO Space has experts, on site, at each program to coach artists to develop their business success in art, including literary agents, attorneys specializing in the arts, publishers and publisher representatives, and successful artists some of whom are celebrities in their own right.

CEO SPACE artists keep helping artists. From owners of Magazines such as PERFORMANCE magazine by Jeff McGee to film producers like Roger Anthony, to global authors such as John Gray of Men Are From Mars, we thank them all each and everyone one for their endorsements and kind words. Coaches like Jay Abraham and and well known names in politics and media note (see CEO SPACE in the Press on ABC CBS NBC FOX and many more in the pull down menu on this web site) help make the artist at CEO SPACE a better supported business talent.

Celebrities give and receive so much to this special process and we appreciate each and every one…keep coming back, CEO SPACE works! CEO Space is a SAFE SAFE place for the artist to go all the way with their dreams....with artist helping artist like CEOs are helping CEOs during CEO SPACE week. Again the enviroment is unique. Nothing like anything.

Note: To celebrities, CEO SPACE is a place of privacy and respect as you master entrepreneur skills for your other side of fame and fortune. Spread the word. Freedom is taking charge in new ways
